Our Reading Policy

Through reading in particular, pupils have a chance to develop culturally, emotionally, intellectually, socially and spiritually. Literature, especially, plays a key role in such development. Reading also enables pupils both to acquire knowledge and to build on what they already know. All the skills of language are essential to participating fully as a member of society; pupils, therefore, who do not learn to speak, read and write fluently and confidently are effectively disenfranchised.

The Patron Saint is: Saint George

Our Mission: To make good choices in all areas of our lives, using Jesus as our role model.

Intent

Reading opens up our children's world. Not only does it allow them to access knowledge linked all curriculum areas, it empowers them to develop a life-long love of reading. The development of speech and a wide vocabulary enables them to organise and express their own thoughts and ideas. It is an essential life skill which we promote through everything we do to facilitate effective communication at home, at school and in the wider world. We aspire to provide all children with many varied opportunities to do this so that they have the best possible outcomes in the future.

At Sacred Heart School, we believe that achieving a good standard of reading is fundamental in preparing children for life as successful citizens in Modern Britain. The national curriculum programmes of study states that 'schools should do everything to promote wider reading', Teachers should develop pupils' reading and writing in all subjects to support their acquisition of knowledge and pupils should be taught to read fluently, understand extended prose (both fiction and non-fiction) and be encouraged to read for pleasure.

"It is essential that, by the end of their primary education, all pupils are able to read fluently, and with confidence, in any subject in their secondary education." (National Curriculum)

We are committed to ensuring that this happens and this policy clearly states the way that reading is taught in our school.

We aim to develop children's love of reading through organising units of lessons around motivating books and texts. A good-quality text will provide opportunities for children to meet objectives drawn from across the National Curriculum for English. Good quality, whole, texts reinforce:

Phonics – book closely matched appropriate phases of phonics (FS & KS1)

Word reading – as children encounter unfamiliar words

Grammar and punctuation – through seeing rules in context and how they are used for effect

Comprehension – through listening to, reading and discussing challenging texts

Vocabulary and spelling – by encountering new language

Spoken language – by participating in discussions about books

Writing – transcription and composition

In addition, studying whole texts in lessons can develop a children's love of reading by giving them the opportunity to read and listen to texts and authors that they might not have chosen to read for themselves.

Another central aspect of reading lessons, is meaningful dialogue between the teacher and the child and their peers. Children must be given time to interact with the text, develop their understanding and to express their opinions.

Implementation

Link to the National Curriculum

At Sacred Heart, reading is taught as part of a Guided Reading carousel. Children are grouped according to their ability and objectives are chosen from the National Curriculum based on the skills that each group needs to focus on. Each group will read with an adult once a week. Books used for Guided Reading will be at the appropriate book band for the group and allow them to focus on the skills they need to learn and practise. On the days that they don't read with an adult, pupils will do a reading-based activity. In KS2, this will include pre-reading the next day's focus text, a follow-up task based on what has been read in the guided session, an inference task, Bug Club and time to read for pleasure. Follow-up tasks should allow pupils to independently practise the skills they have worked on in the previous day's guided session.

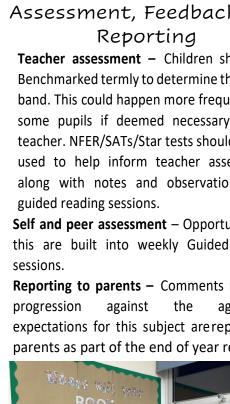

All pupils will have a reading book at the correct book band. In EYFS and KS1, books are be matched to pupils' current phonics stage as set out in the Little Wandle phonics scheme.

Each term, every class will have a class novel. Where possible, each child will have access to a copy of the novel in order to follow the text. Listening to longer, more complex, texts than they would be able to read alone increases children's knowledge understanding of vocabulary and reading comprehension.

Regular home reading is fundamental to ensure effective reading progression in children of all ages. To monitor this, all children have a home/school reading diary which must be signed and dated when a child has read. These will regularly checked by school staff to ensure that children are practising their reading skills at home. Children may read any book of their choice at home.

TO 800 000 000 000 000 000 000

The reading environment should appeal to children of all abilities and to both boys and girls. The classroom libraries should be welcoming, working spaces where children visit, read, chose and talk about books. The space should be well organised so that children can easily find books at their level and that they will enjoy. Displays of books should be attractive and the displays around the area should positively promote reading for pleasure.

Assessment, Feedback and

Teacher assessment - Children should be Benchmarked termly to determine their book band. This could happen more frequently for some pupils if deemed necessary by the teacher. NFER/SATs/Star tests should also be used to help inform teacher assessment, along with notes and observations from

Self and peer assessment – Opportunities for this are built into weekly Guided Reading

Reporting to parents - Comments regarding age-related expectations for this subject are reported to parents as part of the end of year report.

Monitoring

The Curriculum leader, alongside SLT, is responsible formonitoring and evaluating curriculum progress.

This is done through:

- work scrutiny,
- planning audits,
- resource audits,
- learning walks which involve lesson observationdrop-ins,
- · pupil interviews,
- subject-knowledge audits with staff.

Ideas to extend learning beyond the classroom and into the home.

Reading and sharing books with children at home.

Visiting a local library.

Reading a variety of styles and genres of books (eg. Recipe books, atlases).
